

Alexander Mann Solutions Wins Achievement Award

The RPO provider won the category 'Corporate Partner of The Year' for their outstanding support of Tomorrow's People. Alexander Mann Solutions' Global People Capital Director David Heath collected the award at the Tomorrow's People annual awards ceremony on Tuesday evening, at Plaisterers' Hall, central London.

Alexander Mann Solutions demonstrates their support for Tomorrow's People in a variety of ways, providing skills, resources and expertise, as well as traditional fundraising activities. The outsourcing provider accommodates a number of Tomorrow's People staff in its London head office at no cost to the charity, enabling the organisation to benefit from a London base and full facilities. Alexander Mann Solutions has been active in introducing Tomorrow's People to its business network, including helping the charity to establish relationships with key Government departments, and has provided mentoring and business skills development to the charity and its management team.
